GROUP URGES DEATH "NOW" OF RACE BARS

Committee for Civil Rights Makes Proposals To End Segregation at Once.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—A committee appointed by President Truman proposed today that racial segregation be wiped out of American life "now."

Mr. Truman's committee on civil rights, headed by President Charles E. Wilson of the General Electric Company, made 35 recommendations on explosive subjects in the whole civil rights field.

It urged the enactment of federal anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, and fair employment practice laws—three issues which have torn congress with bitter struggles.

It recommended that congress and the state legislature outlaw segregation and discrimination based on race, color, creed, or national origin, in such places as trains, buses, schools, hospitals, theaters, hotels, restaurants, the armed services, and private employment.

Slams Gentleman's Agreements

It proposed that the states outlaw "restrictive covenants" by which property owners bind themselves not to sell or lease to "undesirables."

The 15-member committee said these measures, and many others, are needed to bring the nation nearer to full realization of "the American way" of freedom and equality.

Equal Rights Demanded

"We need to guarantee the same rights to every person regardless of who he is, where he lives, or what his racial, religious or national origins are," the report said.

It declared "the time is now," for three reasons: moral, economic, and international.

The committee's view of the international aspect was that "the United States is not so strong, the final triumph of the democratic ideal is not so inevitable that we can ignore what the world thinks of us or our record."

Concerning segregation — the separation of a minority from other people—the committee said the "separate but equal" idea, as when a state has one school system for white persons and another for Negroes, "is one of the outstanding myths of American history" because:

"It is almost always true that while indeed separate, these facilities are far from equal."

The committee criticized, without naming names, what it called "irresponsible opportunists who make it a practice to attack every person or group with whom they disagree as 'Communists.'"

"Zeal for Democracy"

It said "we cannot let these abuses deter us from the legitimate exposing of real Communists and real Fascists," and added that "the same zeal" must be shown in defending our democracy against one group as against the other.

The committee said "public excitement about 'Communists'" has gone far beyond good judgment and calmness, and "a state of near-hysteria now threatens to inhibit the freedom of genuine democrats."

Concerning federal employes, the committee said the government has a duty to dismiss disloyal workers, but their civil rights must be protected, and procedures should be worked out for this protection.

The 178-page report was made public by the White House.

President Truman set up the committee last Dec. 5 to study how present laws and governmental agencies may be "strengthened and improved to safeguard the civil rights of the people."

In the group are two industrialists, two labor leaders, two college presidents, four church leaders, four lawyers, and the director of an educational fund.

2 Live In South

Two of the 15 members live in the south: Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, and Mrs. M. E. Tilly of Atlanta, and official of the Women's Society of Christian Service, Methodist church.

Much of the report deals with the south and with the Negroes of America. But the committee said the other regions also have their "interferences" with the rights of individuals.

2 MORE CITED BY COMMITTEE

Writer, Director Join 4 Other Film Men in Contempt of Un-American Group.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Two more screen figures were cited for contempt by a house un-American activities subcommittee today, raising to six the number now facing this accusation.

The committee acted against:

Samuel Ornitz, a writer.

Herbert Biberman, a producer and director.

Called as witnesses in the committee's Reds-in-Hollywood investigation, these figures refused to answer questions. They took the same stand four writers had taken earlier—that the committee had no right to inquire into their affiliations or political beliefs.

The eighth day of the committee's hearings was launched with a statement from Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) that it won't stop "until all the Communists in Hollywood are exposed," but immediately ran into difficulties.

Before calling screen writer Sam Ornitz as the first witness, Thomas read a prepared statement in which he referred to "powerful influences" which he said "have sought in every manner to divert this committee from its main course of inquiry."

Ornitz is one of 19 writers and workers represented by Robert W. Kenny, Los Angeles attorney. Four of the 19 already have been cited for contempt for failing to answer committee questions as to whether they are Communists.

Ornitz worked on "It Can Happen To You," "Two Queens" and "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head."

Kenny, called before the committee yesterday, declined to say whether he had advised his clients not to answer certain inquiries. He said it would be unethical for him as an attorney to disclose what he and a client had told each other.

Thomas said there can be no doubt that the four already cited—Dalton Trumbo, John Howard Lawson, Alvah Bessie and Albert Maltz—"are Communists" and "have been Communists for a long while and they will continue to be Communists, serving not the best interests of the United States but the best interests of a foreign government."

Ornitz was dismissed from the stand after a few minutes when he refused to say whether he

DEMOCRATS CONVENE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

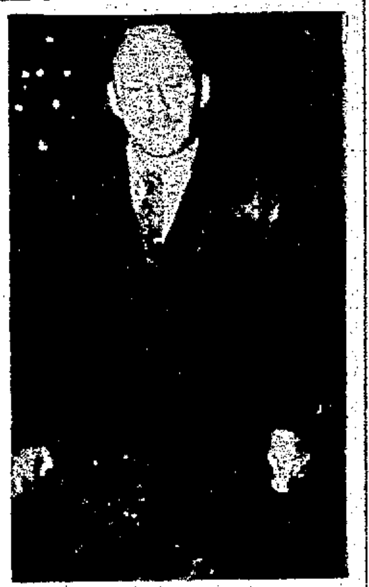
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—The Democratic party squared away for the 1948 campaign today by convening its national committee to pick a convention city and start the ball rolling in an effort to reverse the party's 1946 setback.

Philadelphia and San Francisco were slated to bid for the convention which Democratic leaders say will nominate President Truman for a term in the White House in his own right. Philadelphia, already chosen for the Republican convention opening June 21, was given the edge by high party officers. Early July is expected to be the date.

GOVERNMENT GETS "CUT"

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29—The Philadelphia city treasurer's office reported today a one dollar bill has been received with the following message written across it in pencil: "this is the last of $10,000—wine, women and races."



ALVAH BESSIE, fourth Hollywood screen writer to refuse to tell the House Un-American Activities committee whether he is a Communist, steps down after being dismissed from the witness chair in Washington. The committee voted a contempt citation against him as it had earlier against Dalton Trumbo, Albert Maltz and John Howard Lawson. (Associated Press Wirephoto).

By The Associated Press

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 29—Commander Hugh Tolley of the Klamath air search and rescue unit reported this morning that an air search has been started for a private plane which left here last night carrying Governor Earl Snell, Secretary of State Robert Farrell, State Senate President Marshall Cornett, and Cliff Hogue, local pilot.

MONTY AIDE SCOFFS AT PATTON STRATEGY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Strategy proposed by the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., and subsequently altered by the Allied high command over his protests "would not have shortened the war but would have made it more difficult to win," the war-time chief of staff to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said yesterday.

The change in battle plan which called for an all-out thrust of his Third army armored columns across the Rhine into Germany, Patton said, was in his opinion "the momentous error of the war."

Writing in his war journal, published in part yesterday by the Saturday Evening Post, Patton declared his belief that the change in strategy was "implemented" by Montgomery, resulting in lengthening the war and the loss of thousands of additional lives.

War office spokesman in London declined comment on Patton's charges but in Capetown, South Africa, Montgomery's former chief of staff, Gen. Sir Francis W. De Guingand, disputed the colorful American commander's claims.

"I think that if Patton had been allowed to go rushing to Germany on the axis proposed by him, a very awkward situation would have developed despite possible initial successes," De Guingand commented.

"Such a move, leaving very vulnerable flanks, would not have shortened the war but would have made it more difficult to win."

Globe-Girdling Pilots Make Pacific Crossing

By The Associated Press

ADAK, Alaska, Oct. 29—The treacherous north Pacific crossing lay behind globe-girdling pilots Clifford Evans and George Truman and their tiny planes today, but the long Aleutian island chain, the "cradle of storms," lay ahead.

The two former Army fliers and their 100-horsepower planes landed at Shemya at 5:35 p. m., Pacific standard time (8:35 p. m., E.S.T.) last night after a flight of 13 hours, 28 minutes from Nemuro airfield, on northeastern Hokkaido island, Japan. The distance is about 1,500 miles. Shema is 420 miles west of here.

Kiwanians To Take Citywide Religious Census Next Week

Extensive plans have been made by the Marion Kiwanis club for a citywide religious census to be taken next week, beginning on Sunday afternoon and continuing until the survey has been completed. Approximately 200 workers have been enlisted from the membership of the club and from various churches of the community to cover the entire city in a house-to-house canvass, according to a statement today by Dr. G. G. Nuetzel, chairman of the church committee of the club.

Assignments given to the canvassers will indicate the exact territory each one will be expected to cover, showing streets and house numbers for every family from whom they will seek the information called for on census cards, including family name, the given names of parents, the names and ages of all children, the church membership or church preference of each, and the name of the church school attended, if any.

As the canvass proceeds through the week, the workers will turn in their completed cards to their supervisor or key worker, or if convenient they may bring them to the Y.M.C.A. where a committee, composed of wives of Kiwanians, will receive and tabulate them. When the census is completed, the pastor of every church will be given all the cards listing his church as preference. In cases where families may be attending more than one church, duplicate cards will be made out and sent to each church involved.

This is the second religious census covering the entire city that has been sponsored by the Marion Kiwanis club in recent years. Excellent results were obtained from the canvass taken seven years ago, it was stated, and with the constant shift of population since that time many requests for another census prompted the service club to again sponsor and underwrite the expense and organize the undertaking.

BUS DRIVERS TO VOTE ON WAGE PROPOSAL

Company Offer To Be Considered at Meeting Tonight.

The city bus drivers' union will take a membership vote tonight on a ten cent an hour wage increase offered yesterday by the Marion Rapid Transit Co.

The wage issue between the company and union may be settled tonight and the pending drivers strike scheduled for Friday called off if the union votes to accept the company offer.

Company officials and union representatives met yesterday afternoon to discuss the issue. The conference was reported both by the drivers and the management to have been conducted in a friendly atmosphere.

The wage question was the only issue between the two parties. The drivers represented by Local 222 of the Transportation Workers Union (CIO) sought a wage hike of 30 cents an hour. The company offer of ten cents an hour retroactive to Oct. 1 was accepted by the drivers negotiating committee to be placed before the union membership tonight.

The union will meet in the CIO hall on East Center street at 12 midnight to take up the company offer.

A report of the progress of Tuesday's negotiations with the company was made to a meeting of the local CIO council last night. That body voted to back the drivers wage demands in full.

The Transport Workers Union has a contract with the company which went into effect June 2. The contract provided for "wage revision negotiations" as of Oct. 1. Since that time the company and union have not been able to get together on the wage issue, with a strike vote resulting last Thursday.

Company representatives at the meeting held yesterday afternoon in the company's North State street office were Ray Maag, company president, Leo Hill, vice president, Sheldon Dodds, secretary, Kenneth A. Robinson, company attorney and C. W. Smoot, accountant.

The drivers were represented by the union negotiation committee comprised of President Wilbur H. Poorman, Ellworth B. Gabriel, James C. Mathers and James D. Thompson.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 29—Conservative peers and opposition members of the house of commons were reported today to be working on plans to revise a Labor government bill aimed at trimming the few remaining powers of the house of lords.

U.S. FIGHTS SEATING KOREAN GROUP AT UN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 29—The United States today opposed a Russian demand that elected representatives of the Korean people be invited here to participate in United Nations debate on Korean independence.

An American spokesman said the Soviet proposal was unnecessary and apparently designed to delay and perhaps bar action on the case at this session of the general assembly.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, laid the representation proposal before the assembly's 57-nation political committee along with a demand that the UN order withdrawal of all American and Russian troops from Korea by Jan. 1.

WOMAN LEAVES $10,000 TO NEIGHBOR BOY, SEVEN

By The Associated Press

UNION CENTER, Wis., Oct. 29—Rich dividends—$10,000—will be paid to seven-year-old Ronny Markee for his kindness to Mrs. Effie McNamara, the elderly neighbor woman for whom he ran errands.

Mrs. McNamara's will disclosed she divided her $22,000 estate in half, one share going to Ronny and the other to the caretaker at the McNamara home.

Ronny, the youngest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Joey L. Markee, will receive his share within six to nine months, said Harry Jordan, attorney for the McNamara estate. He estimated it would amount to $10,000.

Mrs. McNamara at one time sought to adopt Ronny, Mrs. Markee said, but she was refused.

A PILOT IS FIRED FROM HIS PLANE. An RAF pilot flies through the air on his pilot-ejection seat at 60 feet a second after being thrown from his jet plane by a cartridge which, when fired, tosses him and his seat from the plane. A parachute attached to the seat supports both until, at a reasonable height from the ground, the pilot leaves the seat, releases a normal parachute and floats to earth. All British RAF jet fighters are being equipped with these pilot-ejection seats. This is a British official picture. (Associated Press Wirephoto)

RAIN EASES FIRE THREAT IN HARD-HIT NEW ENGLAND

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 29—Mother Nature beat hopeful human rain-makers to the punch today by wetting drouth-parched woodlands while dry-ice laden planes waited to take off in an effort to produce showers to end devastating forest fires in Maine.

Gentle rainfall ended at least temporarily the menace of new fires on the heels of old which have blotted out entire villages, cost 19 lives and $32,000,000 property loss in New England.

GALION PASTOR ASKS HIGHER TEACHER PAY

Calls More Money Bar to Red Infiltration.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29 — The best way to counteract the "possibility of communistic infiltration in our schools" is to increase teachers' salaries, says a Galion, O., church pastor.

Speaking to the 42nd annual convention of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, Dr. Philip E. Auer of the Peace Lutheran church, Galion, said last night we were inviting teachers to seek other work "or are encouraging them to have open minds to the fantastic promises that communistic philosophy holds out to them" when they are hired at salaries wholly inadequate and are loaded down with excessive teaching loads.

He added, however, the belief "there are no more Communists in the teaching profession than in many professions, including the church."

Dr. Auer spoke after the congress, representing 302,049 members, adopted a resoluiton opposing passage of the proposed amendment to the state constitution, which would earmark gasoline tax receipts for highway purposes only.

Carl C. Myers, superintendent of Parma public schools and vice president of the congress, who introduced the resolution, said the proposed change would reduce the state's general fund by $65,000,000, a large part of which now goes to public schools.

The 21year-old animal suffered a stroke last week which paralyzed her right side.

From the time her illness became known persons from many parts of the country telephoned or telegraphed for news of her condition. Many "get well" cards were addressed to her.

RAIN, COOLER WEATHER MOVE INTO EAST U. S.

The rain clouds moved from Ohio across Lake Erie in Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and South New England states.

No extremely cool weather was in the immediate future, federal forecasters in Chicago said, although temperatures which have climbed to above normal marks in the east the last several days will begin to moderate today.

TAFT ADVANCES OWN AID PLAN

Cut Expenses, Taxes; Control Exports, Buying; Educate Labor, He Urges.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 29—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) advocates creation of an agency "with over-all responsibility to direct the policy of the government toward reduction of domestic prices, toward a limit on total exports, and toward aid to European countries."

He told the National Association of Cost Accountants last night that exports should be rationed "before we ration our people even on a voluntary basis."

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, suggested a five point program as the quickest means of stabilizing prices.

The five points:

►Cut government expenses.

►Cut taxes.

►Exercise the power to control exports.

►Set up some control of buying for export to avoid confusion and demoralization of the markets brought about by government buying policies in recent months.

►Put on a well-thought out plan of education to persuade labor that more wage increases will do no good because they will be balanced by price increases; to persuade the consumer with adequate income that he should consume less; to persuade the businessman that has own interests demand prices as low as he can afford.

He said that the Marshall plan in its present form is "beyond all reason."

"It asks for $8,000,000,000 in the calendar year 1948," he added. "We have been helping at the rate of $4,000,000,000 a year, which, with the temporary aid, may amount to four and a half billions in the fiscal year 1948.

DANISH REDS LOSE 9 SEATS IN CHAMBER

By The Associated Press

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK, Oct. 29—Danish Communists lost nine of their 18 seats in the Folketing (lower chamber) in yesterday's parliamentary elections, final returns showed today, and were running sixth in a field of seven parties in the popular vote count.

The Social Democrats, which lean to the left of center, won 57 seats in the balloting, a gain of nine over what they won in the last election, on Oct. 30, 1945. The right of center Agrarian party of outgoing Premier Knud Kristensen made the greatest gain of any of the seven parties by winning 49 seats—11 more than in 1945.

With the count of ballots complete in 76 of Denmark's 117 election districts, the Communists polled 45,992 votes, compared to 93,533 votes in all the districts in 1945. All the parties except the National Unity party were running ahead of the Communists in the popular vote count, with the Social Democrats and the Agrarians far out in front.

Most observers attributed the Communist slip to two causes: (1) their recent demands for a purge of the Danish government, and (2) recent Communist moves in other European countries.

BOTH PARTIES REACH BASIS OF AGREEMENT

Conference Results Revealed as Congressman Moves To Open Investigation.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 29—Terms of agreement which may effect a settlement of the 10-week-old strike at the North Electric company were reached this morning in the third day of conferences between UAW representatives and company officials.

Federal Conciliator Horace C. Vokoun announced following the 10:30 a. m. conference held in the city building that both parties had agreed to provisions that would allow the plant to be reopened immediately.

Vokoun stated that the company had made the following offer, major provisions of which were acceptable to the union negotiators. 1) an election to be held between now and Jan. 1, 1948, 2) the plant be opened at once, 3) the company will not give any additional benefits, 4) the 15 per cent wage increase offered prior to the strike becomes effective as the plant opens, 5) no discrimination by the company on hiring and firing of personnel, 6) the company to abide by state industrial commission decision in any instance where an employe may bring charges against the company for discrimination concerning union activities.

The UAW agreed to the reopening of the plant on the basis of the "no discrimination" clause and the guarantee of a 15 per cent wage increase which CIO Regional Director Richard Gosser labeled "by no means adequate."

The union still disagrees, however, on the provisions of the company demanded plant-wide election by secret ballot.

To Open Hearings

Meanwhile Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich) was expected to arrive here about 3 p. m. today to lead a congressional subcommittee hearing into the cause of the bitter strike.

Entrance of the house education and labor subcommittee into the dispute followed the personal visit to the strike scene by Governor Herbert who yesterday afternoon warned both the company and the UAW-CIO that he would "tolerate no breakdown in the public peace."

The governor who was accompanied by Adjutant General Chester W. Goble and state attaches conferred with company officials, union representatives, and local city and county law enforcement officials for several hours.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith, Marion, also appeared at city building yesterday afternoon and conferred with city officials for a brief time before returning to Marion.

The house subcommittee which will open hearings on the strike cause at 10 a. m. tomorrow in city building has already served subpoenas on two UAW members.

F. A. Rieman, member of the subcommittee served papers on Edward J. Duck, UAW international representative Tuesday afternoon at city building. Cyrus "Toots" Martin, Toledo, UAW negotiator was handed his subpoena this morning by Rieman.

The congressional hearing will be conducted by Rep. Hoffman and Rep. Walter Brehm (R-Ohio). Ohio).

Talks In Third Day

The company and union met for the third straight day this morning, reopening discussion where they had left off about 11 p. m. last night.

In the conference session this morning the deadlock over the plant election was apparently broken. Gosser, who arrived this morning from Toledo to sit in with the UAW representatives, told the conference "we would like to agree on opening the plant at once on some set wage scale agreeable to both parties."

He suggested the company and union spend 30 days attempting to negotiate a collective bargaining agreement covering wages, hours and working conditions, if the plant were to be reopened.

If the union and company fail to reach an agreement at the expiration of that period, he suggested a panel of three arbitrators be set up to arrive at a final decision in the matter with the decision binding on both parties for one year.

"This he said would assure the entire community and the public that there would be no strife."

The question of possible discrimination by the company in connection with employes engaged in union activity brought a statement from Vice President R. K. McBerty that the company would not engage in any such practice. Robert Jamison, company attorney

Account of Confusion Over Talk by Wallace Is Related by Byrnes

This is a condensation of James F. Byrnes' "Speaking Frankly" —[illegible] of fifteen chapters of the book published Oct. 15, 1947, by Harper & Brothers. Copyright, 1947, by Donald S. Russell, trustee of the James F. Byrnes Foundation.

By JAMES F. BYRNES

MY HOPE for united support of our foreign policies received a serious setback when, on Sept. 12, 1946, while I was in Paris, Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace made a speech at Madison Square Garden contending that the policy which had been approved by the President, and carried out by me, was too harsh to the Soviet Union and that a more conciliatory approach to them was necessary. I was not greatly surprised by the secretary's action. Previously he had made a statement to "The New York Times" referring to our negotiations with Iceland for the use of the airfield we had built there. His statement was effectively used by the Communists in Iceland and it had obstructed the efforts of the state department to secure an agreement important to the defense of this hemisphere.

In Paris, the importance of Mr. Wallace's Madison Square Garden speech was magnified in the minds of the representatives of foreign governments by newspaper reports quoting President Truman as saying at a press conference that he approved the Wallace speech in its entirety. This report stimulated widespread discussion among the governmental representatives attending the peace conference; it inspired inquiries to our representatives in various capitals. Foreign ministers wondered whether in my various public statements I had correctly presented American policy.

Senator Vandenberg issued a statement saying that he wanted to cooperate with the administration but he could cooperate with only one secretary of state at a time.

Senator Connally declared that he supported the policy we had announced and had been following.

Up To the President

I concluded that I should not make a public statement; that the matter called for correction by the President.

Of course, the position of our delegation was a very unhappy one. So far as possible, I tried to avoid delegates to the conference or the other foreign ministers because I wanted to avoid answering questions about whether the policy of our government had changed. Our difficulties were increased rather than lessened when Mr. Wallace announced on the White House steps that he and the President had agreed that the secretary of commerce would make no more speeches until after the peace conference. To the delegates in Paris, this implied that the President had not objected to a later renewal of his attacks on our foreign policy.

While I had no direct communication with the White House, I learned of developments from the press and from several messages sent to me by Assistant Secretary of State Donald Russell. As a result, on Sept. 18, I sent the President a message, reminding him that on the advice of a physician, I had given him my resignation in April. By agreement, my resignation would take effect upon the completion of the treaties. My message further stated:

Message to Truman

"If it is not possible for you, for any reason, to keep Mr. Wallace, as a member of your cabinet, from speaking on foreign affairs, it would be a grave mistake from every point of view for me to continue in office, even temporarily. Therefore, if it is not completely clear in your own mind that Mr. Wallace should be asked to refrain from criticizing the foreign policy of the United States while he is a member of your cabinet, I must ask you to accept my resignation immediately. At this critical time, whoever is secretary of state must be known to have the undivided support of your administration and, so far as possible, of the congress.

"I shall, of course, remain here until my successor arrives. In case you are not ready to make that appointment promptly, you can, of course, appoint some one other than the secretaary of state to head the United States delegation at the peace conference."

The following day I was informed that he President wished to talk with me over the telephone. We had difficulty getting a clear signal and finally I was told that a third party was on the channel and the telephone company's operator was unable to "clear the line" for our conversation. I then asked the President if we might arrange for a teletype conversation. He kindly consented. There is a teletype instrument in the White House, and one in our embassy in Paris. I went to the message room of our embassy and dictated to the operator this statement:

"I realize that in reaching the agreement announced by Mr. Wallace you were trying to reconcile the difference in views held by us on the one hand and by Mr. Wallace on the other.

Everybody In Doubt

"But Mr. Wallace's last statement leaves the representatives of our government abroad, as well as other governments, in more doubt than ever as to just what American foreign policy will be.

"Mr. Wallace has reiterated that he stands by his New York speech which he does not deny was intended to be critical of our foreign policy. There is little difference in a member of the cabinet issuing to the press statements that he stands by his criticism of your foreign policy and making such criticisms from a platform.

"Mr. Wallace has promised to refrain from speaking until the present Paris Peace Conference concludes, but the form of his statement indicates that he will continue to press publicly his own ideas on foreign policy which differ from your ideas and that you recognize his right as a member of your cabinet to do so.

"When the administration itself is divided on its own foreign policy, it cannot hope to convince the world that the American people have a foreign policy.

"The position of the delegation in this particular conference is not restored by Mr. Wallace's agreement not to speak during this conference when he remains a member of your official family and indicates in effect that he will renew his criticism of your present foreign policy as soon as the conference is over. We are promised only a moratorium from criticism of your policies by your own administration.

"The world is today in doubt not only as to American foreign policy, but as to your foreign policy.

Serious Situation Cited

"This particular peace conference is only a stage in the peacemaking process. The conference makes only recommendations to the council of foreign ministers which upon the adjournment of the conference will meet to draft the final treaties. Then while the foreign ministers are at the most critical stage of their negotiations, Mr. Wallace can resume his public criticisms of our policies and says he will do so.

"Moreover, this conference deals only with some of the treaties, and the making of peace with Germany, Austria and Japan is still ahead of us. This conference is only a start and nothing done will have finality if there is not continuity in our foreign policy.

"You and I are confronted with most serious problems entirely disassociated from the conference and demanding unity at home.

"When the representatives of other governments know that as soon as the conference ends we will again have conflicting statements made by your secretary of state and your secretary of commerce, your delegation here cannot contribute much to the making of the peace. As matter of fact, since these attacks upon us by a member of the cabinet, our efforts have been greatly handicapped.

"When the conference ends and the council of foreign ministers meets to make the final decision, each day I would be confronted with statements of Mr. Wallace in conflict with views expressed by me. I would then have to insist upon being relieved. It is far better for the administration to let us come home now, rather than for us to return October 22, by which date we hope the conference will adjourn.

"If Wallace is influenced by any ill feeling toward me it is possible that if you accept my resignation he might be willing to support your foreign policies or at least refrain from attacking such policies.

Confidence Essential

"To me the important thing is to try and restore confidence in our policies.

"I sincerely hope that when you appoint some one you can announce that you are wholeheartedly and unreservedly behind the foreign policy of the United States as it has been heretofore determined by you and as it is being carried out, that our foreign policy is an American foreign policy and not the policy of any party or faction, that no change in American foreign policy is planned or contemplated by you. If for any reason you wish to modify your policy in any way, I hope that whatever policy you determine upon you will announce it as the American policy to which we are going to adhere and that while a private citizen can express his views in opposition, that no member of your

PUBLIC SKEPTICISM SEEN FOR FOOD PLAN

By The Associated Press

ELAND, Oct. 29—President W. Ebersole of the National Restaurant association says public feels the President's conservation program was seen as a publicity measure. White Plains, N. Y., restaurant operator told the Northeast Ohio Restaurant association it was unfair of the government to ask the restaurant business to be the only industry to deny patrons certain foods grocers, meat markets and others are not specifically included in the program of meatless, less and eggless days.

E Holt, superintendent, at the administration building

The national observance of American Education Week, Nov 9-15, is sponsored by three national organizations with nearly eight million members, the National Education Association, the American Legion, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, along with the United States Office of Education, which can be said to represent all schools and colleges.

Members of the local professional relations committee are Homer Huffman chairman, Miss Hazel Strubel and Miss Marilyn Beal. The public relations committee is composed of Miss Marquente Howser, chairman, Paul Bingman and Mary Jane Llewellyn cabinet can express views in conflict with your policies

"I have been urging on every foreign minister with whom I have talked that the American policy as fixed by you was a permanent bipartisan policy and they could rely upon it that it would not be shifting from time to time and it would not even shift if there were a change in parties because for the first time we had the cooperation of the Republicans. Any statement that in six weeks the policy will be reexamined and discussed with Mr. Wallace whose statements have caused such consternation will cause these foreign ministers to doubt the stability of our policy.

Cheering to Molotov

"I respectfully submit that if Mr. Molotov believed that on October 23 there would be a re-examination of the question of permitting Wallace to again attack your policy he would derive great comfort No other member of the cabinet would claim the right or be allowed to criticize your policy. The fact that it is not decided now that a man who stays in the cabinet must support your policy is bound to hurt us. The work of our delegation is at a standstill Representatives of the other delegations kept our delegation busy asking whether the administration will permit Wallace to make another speech attacking us. These governments would never permit a member of the cabinet to do such a thing and they cannot understand how we would permit it unless his views were shared or there was a serious division of sentiment among the people I do not want to ask you to do anything that would force Mr Wallace out of the cabinet. However, I do not think that any man who professes any loyalty to you would so seriously impair your prestige and the prestige of the government with the nations of the world. This is particularly true, if you showed him telegrams such as we have received from Greece You and I spent 15 months building a bipartisan policy We did a fine job convincing the world that it was a permanent policy upon which the world could rely Wallace destroyed it in a day"

President Takes Action

It is not proper for me to quote the President's statements. But I think it is proper to say that, as a result of the conversation, I knew he did not intend to change his policies or leave any doubt about his views He did not tell me what action he would take However, the following day the President settled the matter in a manner satisfactory, I hope, to the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States

With the resignation of Secretary Wallace, confidence in the American policy was restored. Senators Connally and Vandenberg continued to serve in support of our foreign policy with unswerving loyalty The Wallace incident took place during a national campaign which resulted in the shifting of the majority rule in congress from the Democrats to the Republicans Senator Connally met opposition in his primary election, but would not abandon his work in Paris where he was helping his country and come home to help himself Senator Vandenberg, who also was a candidate for reelection, not only took no part in the campaign but was barely able to get back to Michigan to vote; he urged other Republicans to support the bipartisan foreign policy.

Policy Approved In Senate

The results of efforts to maintain a bipartisan foreign policy were clearly indicated by the overwhelming approval of the senate in its vote on June 5, 1947, ratifying the five treaties thus far concluded When I was informed of the vote, I could not help but recall again the unhappy months after World War I when President Wilson struggled with a disgruntled and determined senate that finally defeated his efforts for peace And I renewed my hope that never again would our policy makers repeat President Wilson's mistake; that hereafter the responsible leaders of both parties would be kept informed of our policies from the beginning of their formulation to their ultimate conclusion.

Probably no non-Russian statesman has had Mr Byrnes' opportunities to study the Soviet foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, in action. A former trial lawyer with experience in all three branches of the United States government, Mr. Byrnes admits frankly that no experience in his life had prepared him for negotiation with Mr. Molotov. In tomorrow's installment of "Speaking Frankly" Mr. Byrnes gives a profile of the Soviet leader, as well as an estimate of the subtle relationship between Molotov and Generalissimo Stalin.

U. S. Weighs Increasing Personnel in Greece

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Government officials are considering an increase in the American military mission to Greece as a means of helping the Greek army prepare for a cleanup offensive against the Communist guerrilla forces

Authorities said the present mission, totaling 40 officers and men, now appears to be too small to do an adequate job The mission's assignment has been to help the Greek forces assemble United States equipment being furnished them under the "Truman doctrine" aid program and to train the Greeks in the use of this equipment

FOOD RATIONING PLAN CALLED "FEASIBLE"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Republican Senator Buck said today restoration of wartime food rationing on a limited scale "might be feasible" in order to aid Europe.

The Delaware lawmaker turned thumbs down on return to any form of price control

Buck is a member of the senate banking committee. This group and its house counterpart will consider the price-curbing program which President Truman has announced he will lay before congress at the special session opening Nov. 17.

Mr. Truman has not disclosed details of the plan, but he recently termed rationing and price control the methods of a police state He said they were necessary in war, but undesirable in peace.

Rationing Possible

But Buck told a reporter:

"I think rationing of certain consumer goods might be feasible if we are going to be able to help Europe I have in mind such products as are in demand for export, among them some kinds of meat, as well as butter and lard and shortening"

Reminded that Chester Bowles, former OPA boss, recently told a congressional committee it would take at least six months to set up a rationing program, Buck said that makes no difference.

"We are contemplating long range aid to Europe under the Marshall plan. That means there probably still will be a lot of pressure six months from now So there is still time to set up a rationing program"

USED CAR DEALERS EYE CROP REPORTS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 29—The used automobile dealer, long a [illegible] in business, is giving crop reports as a clue to a renewed interest in the market.

The trade paper Automotive News pointed out this week that in central and southern states one of the best used car barometers is the farmer's harvest field.

The first increase in volume market the year, the paper said, was created when the central states wheat crop was gathered. Farmers [illegible] their profits, and then in turn began looking for replacement vehicles in the used car market.

Dealers figure they will see an upswing in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and the New York agricultural areas. Right now they also are watching closely the tobacco and cotton crop profits.

Already the cotton field has been followed by more spirited buying in some major southern markets, with Texas and Arkansas buyers [illegible] more likely [illegible] in autumn.

Whether the current slump in used car sales is temporary or the discouraging prospect of a [illegible] and [illegible] appears to be a [illegible] matter among dealers.

Some consider it a mere seasonal fluctuation in fall and winter months, fewer customers [illegible] used car lots. Spring generally signals a business upturn.

Others figure the early postwar used car bonanza days have passed and even if volume rises [illegible] next spring the more expensive models won't bring prices [illegible] market on their sales lots.

Some dealers, says Automotive News, are decking up their individual businesses by "clever buying at lower prices" and "thinning those cars and trucks which were bought earlier at higher levels."

New York City's licensed amusement places have an estimated seating capacity of 1,555,000.

Roving Reports

by Hal Boyle

ROCHESTER, N. Y. TEEN-AGE kids here have their own night club here—a modern hot spot run by themselves where soft drinks replace highballs.

They call it "The Barn," and it's a big floor, teen-aged quarters but complete with all the exterior trimmings of a Manhattan night club.

This unique experiment in recreation for high school children [illegible] by the [illegible] organization [illegible] The idea originated with a [illegible] who sent a 2,000 [illegible] to publisher Frank Gannett in a letter asking:

"Why isn't there a place for the children to go and have a good time without the [illegible]?"

Hal Boyle

Gannett investigated and found that problem was worrying many parents who didn't want their children exposed to adult temptations.

"Then I made a check to find out what the children themselves wanted most in the way of entertainment," said the 72-year-old publisher. "They said they wanted a place with a night club atmosphere—dancing, food and good music—but without liquor."

"The barn" was the outcome.

MONROE COUNTY OFFICIALS donated the use of county land on a hill outside the city. Gannett put up $40,000 to erect "The Barn." It has a soft drink bar with brightly colored food tables, a band platform with microphone and a dance floor that any metropolitan night club might envy.

On opening night last May 16th it was jammed, and it has drawn capacity crowds of 500 to 600 teen agers ever since. A terrace is now being added.

Gannett decided at the start that it was up to the kids themselves to operate the club.

"It wouldn't have worked out if it had been imposed upon them and grownups had tried to run it," he said.

"The Barn" is governed by the board of the Gannett Youth club, made up of a representative from each of 21 public and parochial high schools in the Rochester area. Executives of the Rochester newspapers act as advisers. But the teen age board members make and enforce the rules.

THE BOARD VOTED that no stags would be allowed and set the price at $1 a couple. Dances are held each Friday and Saturday evening from 8:15 to 12:00 p. m.

The kids put on their own shows. Each week a different high school puts on its best talent in the way of singers, specialty dancers, magicians and choral groups. Any [illegible] Fred Astaire or potential Bing Crosby has his chance before an audience his own age.

The club is completely free from vandalism. [illegible] the dance floor were put there to give an outlet for the eternal high school urge to carve initials. The fence saves the tables.

"There has been no misdemeanor of any kind," said Gannett. "The club isn't an agency for the reformation of juvenile delinquents. It was set up primarily to provide a wholesome place of play free from liquor and poor surroundings. High school children in every city need such places."

He'd like to see the idea spread.

One Man's Opinion

There is word from an expert that 75 per cent of the women marry the first man who asks them. . . . That should be a warning to men to button their lip.

It used to be that when a fellow proposed, the girl said, "Why Frankenstein . . . this is so sudden . . . I must have time to think . . . Say six months."

That is, all but the 25 per cent who don't take the first proposal . . . They're playing the long shot.

WORKERS OVER 65 URGED TO CHECK ON BENEFITS

Workers over 65 years old who have been employed during the summer months but are no longer working are advised to call at the Marion office of the social security administration as soon as possible to avoid losing Social Security payments, G. L. Schlueter, manager of the Marion office, stated today.

Payments under the federal old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the social security act can be made for those months in which an insured worker earns not more than $14.99 in jobs covered by the act. If the worker fails to file an application he may lose some of the payments which he could have received if he had applied for them.

New Treatment for Leg Ulcers.

Today we are all familiar with the use of blood as medicine. During the war, injections of plasma into the veins of badly wounded soldiers saved thousands of lives. Even before the war, transfusions of whole blood for victims of severe accidents or wasting diseases had become a commonplace.

Later, it was found that one of the solid parts of the blood was useful in stopping hemorrhage. One of the newest uses of blood, however, is in the treatment of leg ulcers which develop in older people because of varicose veins and poor circulation in the legs.

The part of the blood used in this treatment is the red cells, either in the form of a jelly-like mass or as a dried powder.

At the Mayo Clinic, 46 patients were treated with powdered blood cells. Twenty-nine of these patients had disturbances of the circulation in the arteries. The remainder had trouble with the circulation in the veins.

When the patients were first seen, there was some inflammation around the ulcer or sore, with some secretion.

The treatment first of all consisted of using dressing with a solution either of boric acid or of tyrothricin. In some cases, the ulcers were washed out with a penicillin solution or were treated with a sulfathiazole ointment. If the ulcers did not heal with this treatment, the powdered blood cells were then employed.

All of the patients received treatment to relieve the underlying disturbances of the circulation. Those who had trouble with the arteries were treated with rest in bed and warmth. The device known as the Sanders oscillating bed was also used. This is a bed which rocks back and forth and up and down continuously. The patients were forbidden to use tobacco.

When the underlying trouble was due to poor circulation in the veins, the patients were kept with the legs elevated.

In applying the blood cell powder, after the ulcer was cleaned with wet dressings, the powdered blood cells were put on with a sterile instrument or were dusted on from a container with a shaker top. Then the entire surface of the ulcer was covered with a dry, sterile dressing.

The seepage or fluid from the ulcer often caused hard crusts to form over the ulcer when the fluid mixed with the powdered blood cells. When the point was reached where the crust no longer stuck to the dressing, it was allowed to remain in place, unless there was evidence of exudate beneath, which prevented contact between the cells and the ulcer.

In such cases the crust was removed after soaking with boric acid solution and more powdered cells were then applied. When healing of the ulcer was complete, the crust was either allowed to fall off by itself or was soaked until it was soft enough to be peeled off.

It would appear that with this treatment the time of healing was greatly speeded up, for about one-half of the patients. However, it was questionable whether or not the remainder of the patients healed more rapidly with this treatment than they would have with other methods. The treatment apparently is simple to carry out. Painful ulcers appeared to become slightly more painful the first day after the powdered blood cells were applied, but after that the pain was usually relieved.

Thus, as more and more research is carried out, we are finding that human blood is a strong medicine.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. S.: Please tell me why my eyelids get very heavy. I am 34 years old.

Answer: This condition may be due to an infection of the roots of the eyelashes. At times, disturbance of the thyroid gland or the pituitary gland may account for the trouble. Still another cause might be kidney disease.

You should consult a physician for proper diagnosis and treatment.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Arriving in New York by plane from Billings, Mont., to meet for the first time a British girl he had won by mail and wed by proxy, Barney Hagen (above) found pretty red-haired Eileen Frances Green Hagen, Paddington, England, waiting at the Bureau of Immigration. Navy Strength Low Galion Rotary Hears

GALION—Capt. R. L. Rutter, Naval recruiting officer of Columbus, was speaker Monday night at the dinner meeting of the Galion Rotary club at Hotel Talbott. He talked principally on the decline of the Navy since V-J day. He pointed out the fact that 250,000 men had been lost to the Navy during the past year and of this number only 49,000 might reenlist. The naval officer was introduced by M. D. Bonsteel.

Other speakers heard by the club were Jack Gay, school board member, who spoke on the fire hazards at the North and South elementary schools of the city; M. A. Fovenmire, superintendent of Galion schools, who gave figures on the increasing birth rate in Ohio and its effect upon the schools. Talks by the school men brought about a vote by the club to support the bond issue and school levy at the November election. Paul Zellers, Galion accountant, also called attention of the group to the better roads and streets amendment, the fourth on the ballot.

An Ohio Bonus

BEFORE Ohio war veterans can be paid a bonus, a majority of their fellow citizens must amend the state constitution to that effect.

This is because the constitution wisely bars unusual indebtedness without specific consent of voters. The bonus will cost a third of a billion dollars.

The Star recommends that its readers give this proposal favorable attention, on the premise that Ohio is able to afford a bonus and that such a bonus is in agreement with modern custom.

If the proposition is carried, the state will issue not more than $300,000,000 worth of bonds to meet bonus claims of not to exceed $400 for domestic and overseas service, at a rate of $10 a month for the former, $15 for the latter.

The bonds and accrued interest of approximately $33,000,000 would be paid off by an appropriation of $25,000,000 from Ohio's postwar reserve fund, a million dollars a month for the next 15 years from current state revenues, and $125,000,000 levies on real estate in all the 88 counties at a rate probably ranging from eight-tenths of a mill to a full mill or from 80 cents to a dollar a thousand.

There seems no valid reason why real estate, already staggering under the burden of local government cost, should be saddled with so heavy a share of the cost of a bonus for war veterans, but that is the present plan. A total of $330,000,000 is little enough to convey Ohio's gratitude to the men and women who represented it in World War II. The Ohio bonus deserves support.

A New Name for It

THE time has come for some new thinking about a name for the armed truce which has been in effect since the defeat of Japan. Bernard Baruch and John Foster Dulles, noted for their heavy thinking on weighty matters, have obtained some acceptance for their term, "cold war."

In view of the present heated arguments in the United Nations, the "war mongering" cries and congressional committee attempts to find out just what team some of our citizens are playing for, the term "cold war" seems a bit frigid for the hot collars generated in the realm of international politics.

It is suggested that the proper name for the present jockeying for position is "Word War III."

Then, to paraphrase the oft-quoted General Sherman, we need only to add the "L" to make the term fit what seems likely to follow.

Poultry Can't Read

THE unorganized poultry of the U. S. A. are to be congratulated. They can't read. They'll never know about the controversy over whether 'tis better to be a live fowl or a dead one. Consequently, they'll be spared a lot of confusion.

Grain saver Luckman says 'tis better to be a live one; i. e., that eating no poultry or eggs on Thursday and thereby letting more poultry stay alive will save grain. His countrymen have been pondering this, always with the same result.

They remember that old puzzle about the farmer with the goose, the peck of corn and the fox that had to be taken across the river. The farmer took the goose and the corn across in his boat, leaving the fox behind. He left the corn on the opposite side and took the goose back with him when he returned for the fox. Then he left the goose alone and took the fox, leaving it with the corn while he went back for the goose. The fox, you see, wouldn't eat the corn but would eat the goose, if left alone with it. And the goose would eat the corn. That was for sure.

From time immemorial, bright kids have wondered why the farmer didn't eat the goose and save the corn that way, instead of taking the boat rides, but according to the highest authority now at large on grain-saving, the way to save grain is to feed it to the poultry.

The Apple, Ah!

THE book of weeks shows this to be National Apple week, honoring a fruit esteemed since Adam, Eve and the legendary Lilith inhabited the Garden of Eden.

For more than 2,000 years the western world has cultivated the apple for cider or jelly or just plain munching by the fireside on winter evenings. A versatile, non-acid fruit, the apple goes well in pies, strudels, turnovers, sauce and even candy. It is hearty and vigorous, though in the bland climate of the deep South it withers and becomes insipid. But in the cooler climate of Maine, Vermont, Michigan and our own Ohio it thrives in scores of varieties—Grimes Golden, Winesap, Northern Spy, Delicious, McIntosh, Baldwin and Jonathan—proud names all.

Rich in pectin and vitamins, the apple, so folksay has it, keeps the doctor away if eaten daily. Tradition also has it that a well-polished apple, placed on teacher's desk, allays wrath. This has brought the term "apple-polisher" into the language, meaning flatterer or sycophant. It is maligning the apple to link its good name with such unsavory connotations.

A Plan Calling for Study and Analysis.

ERNEST BEVIN, minister of foreign affairs of Great Britain and chairman of the committee of European economic cooperation (the 16 to one plan), has written a voluminous report of 138 printed pages to explain why the United States should invest $20,000,000,000, more or less, in the rehabilitation of Europe. This document clarifies the so-called Marshall plan, which, it may be remembered, was an expression of hope that Europe would find a program of self-help.

In pursuance of this plan, the President has reconvened congress for Nov. 17. This congress can appropriate the entire amount or enough for one fiscal year. It cannot bind subsequent congresses which may or may not accept its judgment.

The Bevin report makes it clear that Europe is in difficulties because a "highly developed and delicate" machine of "international trade and the uninterrupted flow of goods and services" broke down during the war and has not been rehabilitated among the 16 countries that seek United States aid. Of course, the United States did not make this war nor is it responsible for the events which led up to it. Nevertheless, this is the situation that Bevin describes:

Bevin's Statement

". . . The agriculture, trade and industry of European countries had been twisted out of shape by their own war effort or by policies imposed by armies of occupation. Great numbers of workers were displaced or deported. Oversea importers, deprived of the normal flow of supplies from Europe, transferred an increased part of their trade to the United States. Many of the main sources of supply of these 16 countries were laid waste; the devastation in eastern Europe and the Soviet Union cut off a major source of food and timber, the extension of the war into southeast Asia upset Europe's trade balance with the United States which was partly financed by exports from southeast Asia, and in addition led to a double loss to the European food supply; for the countries of south east Asia not only became incapable of sending their normal share of food experts to Europe out required and obtained food which would normally have come to Europe."

Not All Suffering

In spite of the havoc and devastation, some countries did not do so badly after the war. In fact, recovery was swifter than after World War I, due to assistance from the United States directly and through UNRRA—to which the United States contributed more than 70 per cent, Bevin says:

". . . So successful were these efforts that by the end of 1946 industrial production in Belgium, France and the Netherlands had recovered to 85-95 per cent of the pre-war level, whilst Italian industrial production was back to 60 per cent of pre-war level. In the United Kingdom the process of demobilization of the war economy had been accomplished smoothly and the pre-war level of national output had been fully restored. In the Scandinavian countries production was steadily rising . . ."

However, during the winter of 1946-47, Europe suffered a setback, due to the shortage of coal, to the increased cost of primary products, food shortages, etc. So they want help.

Question Before U. S.

What faces the United States is the question as to how much help and upon what terms and conditions. Shall we give help as a loan, as charity, as a grant-in-aid, conditional or unconditional? How is the aid to be distributed; by whom and by what procedures?

Bevin's program is to be completed by 1951. If not—what then? Great Britain is experimenting with socialism; France and Italy are in danger of Communism. No one can foretell the consequences of these revolutionary experiments. We may believe, and it may or may not prove to be correct, that our contributions may save these and other countries from Communism, but obviously if money is all that will save them, they are indeed far gone. As saviours, we are not very competent: World War I produced the hegemony of Hitler over Europe and World War II the colossal shadow of Stalin.

This plan requires study and analysis. It requires more than anything else that this country shall not be rushed to disaster by violent propaganda bearing the names of distinguished citizens. The subject is now open to scrutiny and debate by the congress.

A Million-Odd Reasons For Better Government

The civil service commission reports that the federal payroll has been reduced 1,004,333 employes in the last two years.

Has anyone missed them?

Those guys are as expendable as sand in spinach.

There was a time, a few years back, when everybody was on the federal payroll except a few who were doing their washing.

It was beginning to appear that we were literally going to have government of the people, by the people . . . ALL the people.

Someone in Washington has finally realized that sooner or later would come the bureaucrat who would break the taxpayer's back. It probably would have come before but for the legend that, wherever one was cut off, two would immediately spring up.

If Jefferson was right when he said the best government is the least government, then in recent years we must have been very close, at times, to the worst.

Truman's Plans for Nov. 17

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—The days since President Truman announced the calling of a special session of congress for Nov. 17 have thrown some light on future developments, though much remains to be seen. For complete light it will be necessary to wait until the President sends his concrete recommendations to congress.

In speaking about these Mr. Truman made a distinction between the two purposes of the special session and his attitudes toward each. As to one of the purposes he said: "I shall recommend a program for dealing with inflation, high prices and the high cost of living." But as to the other purpose, foreign aid, the President did not suggest he would recommend a specific program to congress; he rather pointedly indicated that he would not. He called attention to the emergency, but left the details of solution up to congress.

No Blueprint Expected

Whatever the reason, and whatever the weight it may have, Washington is convinced that the administration has come to a conscious conclusion not to lay before congress a blueprint of foreign aid and the many and intricate conditions that go with it. Some developments following Mr. Truman's announcement and increasing the impression it made have given rise to a feeling in Washington that the administration is consciously avoiding responsibility for a comprehensive program about foreign aid and is leaving that responsibility up to congress.

Foreign aid includes much more than the amounts of money involved. There are many questions of policy and method. Is our aid to be a gift or a loan? Is aid for industrial reconstruction in Europe to be given to governments as governments and left for them to distribute, or is it to be channeled by us to the beneficiaries of it? Is all the aid to come out of our treasury and from our taxpayers, or is some of it to be provided by semi-governmental banks, such as the World bank, or private banks or private industries? Should we make any stipulations about how the funds are spent?

These and many other questions of policy and method are to be left up to congress and not presented to congress by the President as a packaged program. The impression that the President would make a comprehensive recommendation to congress was created by the fact that the preliminaries looking to foreign aid have been conducted by the administration. The Marshall plan came from the secretary of state. The inventory of our resources to determine how much we could safely afford was made by a committee headed by Secretary of the Interior Krug. Other preparatory work was done by a committee headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Function of Congress

All this may have created an impression that the President would recommend to congress a program about foreign aid, as apparently he intends about inflation and high prices. But in fact the preparatory work is the function of the administration. The writing and enactment of a program, which uses the preliminary work as information, is the function of congress. It goes with that body's supreme power, the control of the purse. For writing the program congress has first-hand information acquired by its own members. Upward of 200 senators and representatives have been in Europe this fall and summer for the specific purpose of equipping congress with information about conditions in Europe having to do with aid by us. It is out of congress that the country will receive information about coming developments in foreign aid.

As to the other purpose of the special session of congress, high prices and inflation, the President said he will "recommend a program." That program will be watched to see whether it includes any proposal about government support of the prices of farm products, food. The government has on hand immense quantities of farm products, bought for the purpose of supporting prices. That this is an essential factor in the present high-price level goes without saying. Any program about high prices and inflation which omits mention of this would hardly be convincing.

"Hot Atoms" Worry Scientists

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Associated Press Science Editor

UPTON, N. Y., Oct. 29.—One of the worst headaches that scientists ever have encountered is how to dispose of the "hot" radioactive atoms from atomic ovens and atomic generator machines.

They cannot be blown into the air, they cannot be buried in the ground and they cannot be tossed into the sea. Some of them have lived through a century, all the time dangerous, and others for many years. A few last millions of years.

There never has been a problem like this. Any disposal previously known for wastes will leave these atoms to menace present and future generations.

Does anyone have a suggestion for a good, safe burying ground for hot atoms? This was in effect the problem presented to the first conference in biology and medicine, held here in the Brookhaven national laboratory of the atomic energy commission.

There was no satisfactory answer. This is not a present problem, for the few atoms now in scientific hands are not numerous enough for public risk.

Danger Lies Ahead

But in the future day when atomic power is generally used, the wastes may amount annually to the terrific rays that would come from 10,000 tons of radium.

Long before that, there will be enough of these radioactive atoms (isotopes) in medical, scientific and industrial use to force the discovery of an atomic burying ground.

There is no way of quenching this radioactivity, and from what physicists now know, there probably never will be.

One proposal has been to seal these waste atoms in concrete cylinders and throw them into the sea. Dr. J. E. Rose, of the Argone laboratory, University of Chicago, discussing this one, said that a hundred years hence such cylinders might begin breaking open. The atoms, still hot, still alive, would issue forth to contaminate fish and plants, to be lifted in evaporation from the sea and to fall on the land in rain.

Dr. Rose said an abandoned salt mine has been suggested. The merits of such a mine are almost permanent dryness. If radioactive atoms are buried in ground that water can reach, during a long period of time they will dissolve and spread until they run with the underground water to exits to the air and the clouds.

Some Short-Lived.

Some of the atoms have short lives of a few days or weeks. These can be stored in a basement inside lead and concrete until they die. Certain of the hot atoms now used in experiments on animals are satisfactorily disposed of by ordinary incineration of the carcasses. These atoms, too, belong to the short-lived class.

One of the Harvard scientists said that a member of his group has a hut in a remote place that is useful to store short-lived atoms that die within one year.

Not yet known is how much human beings, animals and plants can safely take of the dispersed radioactivity that can be spread in air, water and food in an atomic age.

Completely mysterious is the question of how much of this stuff will perhaps cause genetic mutations and so alter heredity.

That there are safe limits is considered certain. But they still have to be learned. Meanwhile the atomic scientists of America are leaning over backward so far that they are outdoing the cosmic rays, by permitting from their work less of this seeping contamination than those rays daily create.

Sales Made Carefully.

The caution extends to choice even of persons permitted to buy radioactive atoms from the atomic energy commission. Dr. P. C. Aebersold, in charge of these atoms, said they are sold only to organizations able to guarantee safe handling.

These atoms are allocated only for experiments. They are not yet sold to industry, although Dr. Aebersold said this can be done safely. The commission is waiting for results of further safety studies before setting up industrial precautions.

New rules now in the making for safety in shipment of radioactive atoms include one that no container shall be less than four inches on a side. This is to prevent any person from carrying such a live hot box in his pocket.

Another proposal is to put horns on the heavy packages. These are to prevent any worker from carrying the weight in the favorite position, cradled against his stomach. The idea is to force him to carry it near his lower legs.

There is one great saving principle in all this hot atom safety planning. Distance is protection. There is no exception to this principle. Even a few inches distance may make the difference between safety and possible harm

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Round by Round With a Hurricane

Oscar Purkey, the ex-G.I. who has been in many ventures since the war, reveals that he was among those in recent bombing-plane ... der to subdue hurricane off Florida. The news came in a phone call to his home. "Hello mom! Hello pop!" he said. "I put up a good fight, but I lost."

* * *

"Boy, wotta fight!" exclaimed Oscar when interviewed. "Them hurricanes is fast. Not only that, but they gotta wallop. I tried to make mine fight my way, so as I could set the pace and have plenty left at the finish, but no use. It kept crowdin' me at all times. I lost my mouth protector with the opening gong."

His graphic account continues:

"I had trained hard for this fight at the General Electric camp, but this hurricane had height, weight and reach on me and it was an ugly customer. It wouldn't sign no articles or even show up for the weighing-in. What can you do against an opponent like that?

* * *

"Yeah, but I ran out to meet it the minute I heard the bell, but it came out faster than me and let go with everything I had rehearsed in plan of battle an' everything. My plan was to keep circlin' and never let the big bum get set for a haymaker.

"The idea was to wear it out with jabs and let go with the old pellet punch or dry ice one-two wallop.

* * *

"The plans had gone swell at Schenectady. But it had been kind of hard to get suitable hurricanes for sparrin' partners up there. We had to take the best we could find and could not get no big winds of any size, exceptin' two a couple of congressmen, a well-known former Democratic cabinet officer and a couple of ... orators.

"Well, like I was sayin' the minute I met the real hurricane off Cuba I knew it was no pushover. Boy, things started so fast that the referee didn't have time to introduce a couple of former champion tornadoes and a retired typhoon.

"All the referee got time for was to say that the one wearin' black trunks was Purkey.

"The hurricane tore in slugging. I tried the General Electric jab, the dioxide uppercut and everything but this big wind was tough. My trainer kept yellin' 'Get in close,' 'Use your left' and things like that, but 75 miles off Key West my lip was cut and the old gash over my left eye opened again.

* * *

"I guess what finally weakened me was them General Electric seconds yellin' 'You can't lose kid!' Anyhow I saved up my best punch, the Mystery Pellet, for use just off the mainland and feinted for an opening. The hurricane was smart. But I got a openin' and let go with a straight pellet to the plexus."

"What happened?"

"Nuthin'," said Oscar wearily.

"Do you want a return bout?" we asked.

"Who, me!" was the shocked reply.

WE are not especially upset by the probe into Red leanings in Hollywood, although we are not among those sneering at the committee and its efforts, of which we highly approve. Our reaction is that while American movies are driving people to drink, the drink is not vodka.

Parsley

By Truman Twill

We recently became acquainted with a woman who eats the sprigs of parsley cooks put on and around helpings of food. "Why are you putting that parsley in your pocket?" she inquired crossly during a meal that was decorated with parsley like a church fixed up for a wedding. "Hand it over. I like it." She ate it greedily. It was a pretty gruesome thing to see.

Years ago when the subject of parsley first was taken under advisement by the Twillop Poll, the conclusion was reached that no one ever had eaten any, except a fellow in Dodge City, Ia., who stuffed a sprig of it into his mouth once in the belief it was a stalk of baby's breath, which he sometimes munched because it appealed to him.

This conclusion had held up during the years. For example, during the late great war, which was won almost single-handed by victory gardeners and air-raid wardens, one of the indispensable items thrown into the fray was parsley seed. Parsley clumps sprang up from coast to coast. But there is no record that anyone ever ate any parsley. Aside from an unsubstantial report that parsley scared away rabbits, the stuff was useless, except for decoration.

More Americans than ever felt sure parsley was in the same category as asparagus fern—for decorative purposes only. In fact, on the occasion mentioned, it had been so long since the possibility of parsley being edible had occurred to us that we involuntarily started to slap the woman, thinking she was having hysterics. Fortunately, this impulsive act was halted in time.

There is not any good reason why a human being should not eat parsley. It just never occurs to them the stuff might be edible. As far as men are concerned, they think parsley is used over and over again, like those undertakers' old-fashioned wreaths. They wouldn't think of eating it.

As a matter of fact, that's how we came to be putting the parsley in our pocket. It's a joke we play on cooks. When they scrape the plates and count the parsley sprigs, they're two sprigs short. This causes old friends to suspect each other. Parsley becomes a sore point. Finally, the boss decides it would be better to skip it altogether than to try to keep track of stray sprigs.

A fellow gets a lot of parsley this way—enough to start a restaurant of his own. We shudder to think, though, what will happen if this charming woman who likes the stuff runs amuck. They have to call out the militia to protect the available supply.

O.S.U. Scientists Isolate Rare Form of Helium

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28—Ohio State university scientists yesterday announced they had succeeded in concentrating a rare form of helium—known as "mass three isotope"—for the first time in scientific history by a single process.

They said studies of "mass three" may explain why helium climbs out of its container at temperatures two degrees above absolute zero, one of the most puzzling problems of the scientific world today.

The helium research project at O.S.U. is one of six supported by the office of naval reasearch in the university's low-temperature laboratory.

Scientists working on the project were Dr. J. G. Daunt, Dr. R. E. Probst and Dr. H. L. Johnston. Prof. E. O. Nier of the University of Minnesota, aided in early phases of the work, O.S.U. said.

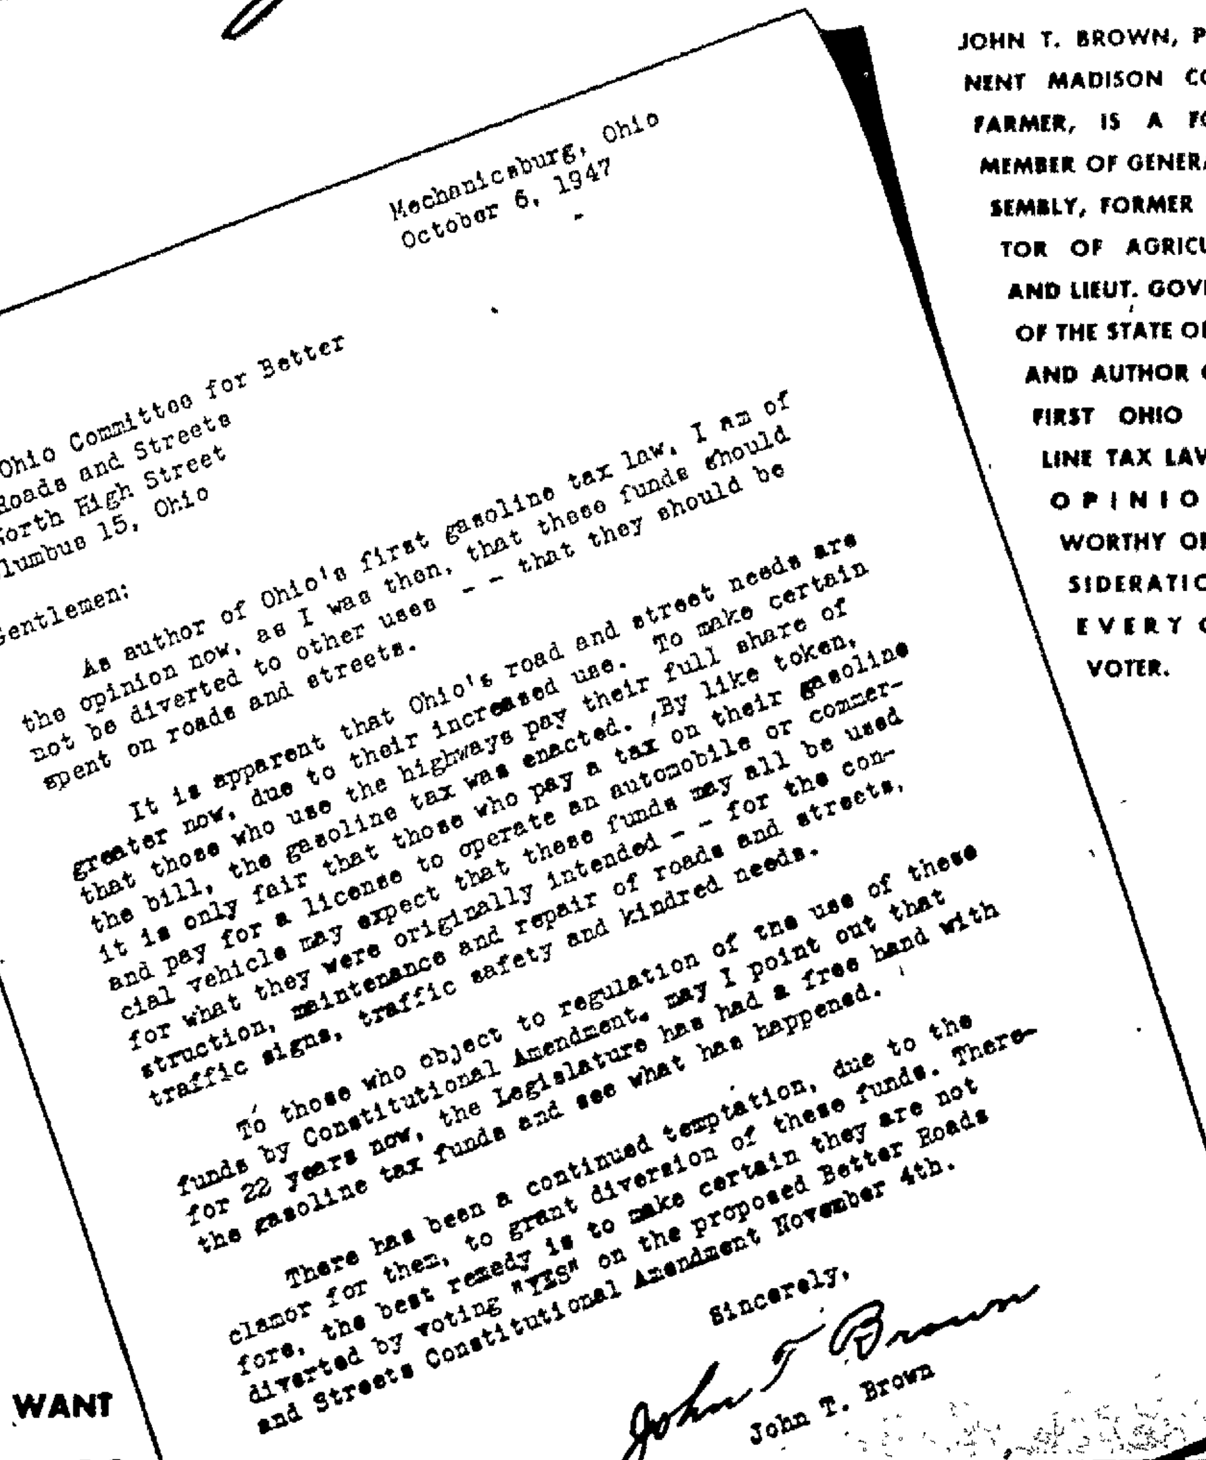
JOHN T. BROWN, PROMINENT MADISON COUNTY FARMER, IS A FORMER MEMBER OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY, FORMER DIRECTOR OF AGRICULTURE AND LIEUT. GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF OHIO AND AUTHOR OF THE FIRST OHIO GASOLINE TAX LAW. HIS OPINION IS WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION OF EVERY OHIO VOTER.



Mechanicsburg, Ohio
October 6, 1947

The Ohio Committee for Better
Roads and Streets
9 North High Street
Columbus 15, Ohio

Gentlemen:

As author of Ohio's first gasoline tax law, I am of the opinion now, as I was then, that these funds should not be diverted to other uses - - that they should be spent on roads and streets.

It is apparent that Ohio's road and street needs are greater now, due to their increased use. To make certain that those who use the highways pay their full share of the bill, the gasoline tax was enacted. By like token, it is only fair that those who pay a tax on their gasoline and pay for a license to operate an automobile or commercial vehicle may expect that these funds may all be used for what they were originally intended - - for the construction, maintenance and repair of roads and streets, traffic signs, traffic safety and kindred needs.

To those who object to regulation of the use of these funds by Constitutional Amendment, may I point out that for 22 years now, the Legislature has had a free hand with the gasoline tax funds and see what has happened.

There has been a continued temptation, due to the clamor for them, to grant diversion of these funds. Therefore, the best remedy is to make certain they are not diverted by voting "YES" on the proposed Better Roads and Streets Constitutional Amendment November 4th.

Sincerely,

John T. Brown

OHIO STATERS BOIL OVER QUEEN POLITICS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29 — Campus politics literally boiled over today as campaigners got into full swing for the election of Ohio State university's homecoming queen, Nov. 10.

A split appeared last night in the Ohio Students Party association when Delta Gamma sorority announced its resignation from the party, traditionally made up from fraternities and sororities.

Delta Gamma, whose nominees for May and Homecoming queens have won eight times in five years, charged political manipulation of the coming election. The sorority circulated a letter among other fraternities and sororities which asserted that the association "does not consider the student body a competent judge of beauty and seems to feel a better choice can be made by a small group of students—the Greek letter organizations."

Les Forney, student senate president, said he would announce the names of 18 candidates sometime today. The nominees will come from an original list of 30 names.

Tom D. Rose, OSPA president, answered a Delta Gamma charge that party members were fined for not voting in elections. He said:

"Any fines that have been imposed have not been under party jurisdiction, but have been levied by separate member organizations within themselves.

"That is done to insure a full vote in these elections," he said.

Polish Premier Admits Anti-Red Chief Escaped

By The Associated Press

WARSAW, POLAND, Oct. 29—Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz told the Polish parliament today that frontier guards had prevented 35,000 persons from illegally leaving the country this year but that Opposition Leader Stanislaw Mikolajczyk had managed to flee.

The premier said nothing, however, to clarify how Mikolajczyk, the leader of the Polish Peasant party, had made his way out of the country or his present whereabouts.

Previously there had been speculation in some quarters that Mikolajczyk might have been apprehended while attempting to cross the border. The opposition leader, who apparently fled Poland in fear of his life, has not been definitely located since he dropped out of sight 10 days ago with a party of several others. There have been unconfirmed reports that he already was in Britain, or was on his way there via Sweden.

GALION

declared that the North company would not employ "strikebreakers" nor had considered doing so.

Herbert Views Plant

The governor arrived in Galion shortly before 2.30 p. m., driving by the North Electric plant on South Market street and the UAW headquarters on West Railroad street before arriving at the city building. He was accompanied by Adjutant General Chester Goble and John Robert Jones, his secretary.

Governor Herbert left Galion at 5 p. m., to eat his birthday dinner at Hotel Harding in Marion.

Jones, Adjutant General Goble and other state officials and newsmen who made the trip to Galion with the governor were guests at the impromptu "birthday dinner" marking the fifty-third birthday of the state's chief executive.

During his three and one-half hour stay in Galion, he met first at 2:45 p. m. in Mayor William Amann's office with the mayor, Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck and Inspector U. G Felty of the state highway patrol

Shortly after this conference the governor who had been photographed upon his arrival in the building, reappeared for a statement to newsmen and flash bulbs went into action again. He waited first for the presence of Sheriff Schreck and then had this to say. "The mayor and sheriff have assured me they have the situation in hand, that they do not need state assistance, and I imagine if they do, they will call me. I assured them that I will not tolerate any more lawlessness in the situation here, and will take steps at any time to keep down any lawlessness that might arise."

Request from Gosser

Gov. Herbert said he had received a request by telegram from Richard Gosser, stating that the union would be glad to give him their side in the matter. He said that Robert Jamison, company attorney, had made the same offer orally.

The governor held conferences, first with Edward J. Duck, international union representative and Joseph R Nevitt, of Toledo, union representative and later with company representatives including vice president R. K. McBerty, Jamison, and W. H. Walters, vice president in charge of sales.

After these conferences Gov. Herbert said: "I have talked to representatives of labor and the company, with the sheriff present, and have been assured by both sides that there would be no more violations of public peace He said that both company and union were hopeful that continued negotiations on the present basis would bring an agreement.

The governor indicated that Col. Richard V. Graham, representing the state adjutant general's office, Colonel Thomas Brock, of the same office, and Horace C. Vokoun, region 3, federal mediation and conciliation service, Cleveland, will remain here during the negotiations.

Asked if there would be a Halloween masquerade as previously announced by the union, for Tuesday night, the governor said "no masquerade."

The annual Halloween "Mardi Gras" sponsored by civic and fraternal organizations was cancelled last week in view of the strike situation The event customarily attracts approximately 5,000 persons and features a masquerade street dance and parade.

Announcement that the Mardi Gras had been cancelled brought strenuous objection from the UAW through Mr. Duck who charged the move was made to discredit the union. The announcement by Governor Herbert upheld the decision of Galion sponsors, the American Legion and Fraternal Order of Police, to abandon the celebration.

When the governor first arrived at the municipal building, he announced that his visit to Galion had two phases (1) to keep public peace, and (2) to investigate the industrial dispute in the city. He also said he was here to find out if the mayor and sheriff wanted assistance, and "if either representatives of the union or company wanted me. I would be here"

Both union and company representatives spoke up at this time in the group gathered around the governor, and said they wanted to talk with him. Later in the afternoon, the governor said he would continue to keep his observers in Galion.

The presence of Rose Billeter of Mt Gilead with union representatives in conference with the governor was explained by Joseph Nevitt who said she was an employe of the Mt. Gilead plant who had been discharged because she joined the union.

Serves Summons

F. A. Reiman, of the professional staff of the educational and labor committee of the house of representatives served a summons on Duck, shortly after 3.30 p m, in the corridors, to appear at 10 a. m, Thursday, before Congressmen Clare Hoffman, (R) of Michigan, and Walter Brehm, (R), Ohio 11th district, who will arrive in Galion to make a study of the Galion situation.

At this time it is expected the study will include the Galion strike, and violence at the North Electric company's plants. Both labor and management will be called in for the study. Congressman Hoffman is chairman of the sub-committee of the education and labor committee.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion arrived at the City building at 2.20 p. m. When he learned that the company and union were holding private conferences, he said he was afraid his visit to Galion was in vain. He said that he favored open conferences, with the press in attendance.

During the afternoon when Duck came out of the union conference with Governor Herbert, he told newsmen the governor said he was not promoting any cause, that he offered the services of the industrial commission in settling the Galion dispute.

Says Settlement Near

Duck said "A settlement is closer now than it ever has been. The union will not agree to an election as the company has proposed. We hope to settle this quickly but only when mutually satisfactory to all concerned. We will forget all past differences. We represent a majority of the 463 production workers at the Galion plant. We want a check with company payroll against our membership cards."

The discussion between company and union was held up until the union representatives arrived at 1.30 p. m. It was opened by Col. Thomas Brock, who stated that Monday's session had left off with the company's proposal for an election. Federal conciliator Horace Vokoun then said that he had been in Cleveland Monday night with Regional Director Edward Cunningham of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and that Cunningham advised Vokoun to stay in Galion.

After a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the scissors slaying of her 18-year-old sister, Irene Zawistowski, 16, of Chicago, collapsed and had to be carried out of the jury room. CLUB HEARS TALK BY CHICAGO BANKER

Mark A. Brown Discusses Business Conditions.

"Current Business Conditions" was the subject of a talk given by Mark A. Brown, executive vice president of the Harris Trust bank in Chicago, and president of the Chicago Clearing House, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

Mr. Brown is past president of the Reserve Cities Bankers association and his name appears in the business "Who's Who." During World War II, he was called to Washington, D. C as the financial advisor on the war production board.

Mr Brown warned against over expansion in industry. He said industrialists should take a look at the dollar that they have to spend during this high price trend and see what expansion is warranted. Then they should expand and produce only if they can maintain sufficient backlog. According to his report there are now six major industries in this country that have no backlog.

Mr. Brown declared that even with all our taxes we are still the best off of any people in the world. He called attention to the fact that we have the best money in the world, the highest living standards in the world, and the type of government we like best.

Mr. Brown quoted statistics to prove that over half of the people in the United States have no adult experience in any form of government other than a democratic form; that they have had no adult experience in peacetime economy, they have had no adult experience in buying except in a controlled economy.

He voiced the feeling that the general confusion which prevails in business is due to the fact that business people do not know what the true economy of the United States is. Therefore, it is difficult to "stand on both feet and know what step to take next."

Mr. Frank S. McNeal arranged for Mr Brown's appearance before the club as a speaker. Guests at the meeting were: E. L Bush, H. Mair McNeal, Carl F. LaMarche, John Clark, all of Marion, W. V. Stowell and Charles Kirk of Findlay, D R Allen of Kent; Clyde Burton of Lima, and M S Pohler of Kansas City, Mo.

Nancy Nussbaum was the student reporter from the journalism class of Harding High school.

Man Who Rented Home To Three at Once Jailed

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29—Paul E. Reed, 27-year-old Columbus landlord, rented the same house to three families at one time and today was under a one-to-three year Ohio reformatory sentence after pleading guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses.

Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett told Criminal Judge Cecil J. Randall that Reed, who held only first and second mortgages on the dwelling, had entered into false agreements at $300 annually with each of the three families.

Bartlett said that Reed also informed each family it could occupy the house, although a fourth family already was living in it.

ALASKA PLANE SEEKERS BEGIN GROUND SEARCH

By The Associated Press

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Oct. 29—Pan American air and field crews took to the ground today to comb the southern sector of Annette island in their three-day old search for a missing four-engined airliner and its 18 passengers and crewmen.

Inclement weather brought the aerial search to an almost complete halt yesterday but not before more than a score of planes had carried out a fruitless check of reported flares, smoke and strange objects.

The plane, carrying 13 passengers and five crewmen, vanished Sunday after pilot Alf N. Monsen reported extreme turbulence turned him away from a scheduled landing at Annette island.

NO DEPRESSION SEEN BY U.S. STEEL CORP.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—U S. Steel Corp. "sees nothing but a continued high rate of operations for a long time to come," Irving S. Olds, board chairman, said following a board meeting yesterday at which directors declared the first special dividend since 1929

"I would say that for the next year the outlook is one of continuing high demand for all kinds of steel. There doesn't seem to be any present let-up in demand," Olds said "I don't think that the early depression that is being predicted for us is likely to happen"

He termed the corporation's $50,000,000 expansion and modernization program an expression of "our faith in the future of this country and the future of our business." The directors declared a dividend of $1 25 a share on the common stock, an increase of 25 cents a share over the quarterly rate in effect since 1940, and voted a special disbursement of 75 cents a share, bringing total 1947 payments to $5 a share. Both are payable Dec. 10 to holders of record Nov. 7.

The corporation reported net income for the third 1947 quarter of $28,735,082, or $2 58 a share, compared with $33,329,353, or $3.11 a share, in that period last year. For the first nine months of this year net income of $97,306,461, or $9 01 a common share, compared with $57,467,894, or $4 43 a share last year when operations were affected by strikes.

Reds Battle Police In Streets of Paris

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 29 — Unofficial counts of the number injured in last night's bloody, head-cracking street fight between Communists and Paris police ranged today from 40 to 300.

The riotous street brawling, the first major political street battling in Paris since the bitter conflicts of 1936, occurred only a few hours after Premier Paul Ramadier opened his government's fight for life in the national assembly, summoned into special session to deal with France's vexing political and economic problems.

FINED AT MT. GILEAD

Richard Gordon, 25, of Canton, was fined $5 and costs by Mt Gilead Mayor R. G. Booher yesterday for failing to obey a traffic signal and passing at an intersection. He was arrested by the state patrol on route 30-S at 2 p m yesterday.

Letters from Our Readers

LAW AGAINST RIOTING

Editor of The Star: Beyond a doubt every law-abiding citizen in the state of Ohio was greatly humiliated because of the lawlessness at Galion last week.

Probably there were some persons who were technically a part of the riotous assembly who had no idea they were violating the law, or were in any danger.

The undersigned is greatly interested not only in the peace in the nation at large, but especially in Marion county. Clearly, if riotous conduct is going to continue, it is only a question of time until some of the rioters will be seriously injured and it may be some injured who consider themselves just spectators

I want to call the attention of the readers of your valuable paper to three sections of the General Code of Ohio, which I now copy verbatim and trust every man and woman in the county will read carefully.

"Section 12809. RIOT. — "Whoever, being one of three or more persons who assemble together to do an unlawful act with force and violence, or, who being assembled, do such unlawful act or agree with each other so to do and make preparation or movement therefor, or continue together after proclamation is made as provided in Section 12811, or is prevented from so being made by rioters, is guilty of riot, and shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days or both, and shall give security for good behavior and to keep the peace for one year.

"Assemblage of strikers accompanied by acts of violence, subjects each striker to punishment for riot. Boiler & Engine Co. vs. Benner, 14 D 373."

"Section 12811 Peace officers may call for assistance—Whenever three or more persons are unlawfully or riotously assembled, all judges, justices of the peace, sheriffs and other ministerial officers, forthwith upon view or as soon as may be on information, shall make proclamation in the hearing of such persons, commanding them, in the name of the state of Ohio, to disperse and depart to their several homes or lawful employment, and if such persons do not then forthwith disperse and depart such officers shall call upon all persons near, and, if necessary, throughout the county, to aid and assist in dispersing and taking into custody all persons so assembled. Each of such persons, so called, refusing to render immediate assistance, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars. (R. S Section 6894)

"Section 12812. Killing a rioter who resists officer.—If any of the persons, unlawfully or violently assembled is killed, maimed or otherwise injured, in consequence of resisting officers or others engaged in dispersing and apprehending such persons, in accordance with the provisions of the next preceding section, such officers, and others acting by their authority or the authority of either of them, shall be guiltless, if such killing, maiming or injury takes place in consequence of the use of necessary and proper means to disperse or apprehend such persons. (R. S. Section 6395).

Ornitz, a short, heavy man, asked permission to submit a statement before he testified. Thomas looked it over and refused the request. He called it "clearly out of order" and "another case of vilification."

The committee's record of Ornitz's affiliations contained 30 notations.

The committee then called director-producer Herbert Joseph Biberman, also represented by Kenny.

Biberman, who produced and directed "The Master Race" and directed a number of stage plays including "Green Grow the Lilacs," was on as briefly as Ornitz

When asked if he is a member of the Screen Writers Guild, he offered a statement instead Thomas rejected it

Biberman shouted that the chairman's ruling was "a shameful and cowardly act"

Then he was asked if he is a Communist.

Biberman started making a long statement. Thomas banged his gavel furiously and then excused the witness.

Biberman said he wanted to answer the question at "great length" but Thomas demanded a "yes or no" answer. When he didn't get it, he told the witness to leave the stand. Biberman left.

Russell again went through the usual routine of identifying a purported photostatic copy of a Communist party registration card No. 47267 which he said was issued to Herbert Biberman in 1944.

Robert E. Stripling, chief committee investigator, then presented the customary "record of affiliations" of Biberman.

Three of Kenny's clients—writers Dalton Trumbo, Alvah Bessie and Albert Maltz—wouldn't answer the communism question yesterday and promptly joined writer John Howard Lawson in the group against whom the committee has instituted contempt proceedings. Lawson failed to answer the question Monday.

All four insisted that the committee has no right to inquire into a man's political beliefs Bessie observed that even General Dwight D Eisenhower hasn't disclosed his political beliefs, "and what is good enough for General Eisenhower is good enough for me."

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat
It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

CIVIL RIGHTS

tee considers violations of civil rights were discussed at length: Some of these were:

Six lynchings in 1946; police brutality; "unfair" court trials of persons from minority groups; the wartime mass evacuation of Japanese-Americans from the west coast; racial discrimination in the armed services; barring of some alien groups from American citizenship; denial of voting rights.

Difference In Views

The report said all the recommendations were a "general consensus" of the committee except that on two matters where there was a "substantial division of views." These were:

1. The committee recommended that the federal government refuse to grant funds to any state government or other agency—for public housing or hospitals, for example—if there is to be segregation in the use of the money.

A minority of the committee, while favoring an end of segregation as an "ultimate goal," opposed making this a requirement for the giving of funds.

2. The committee recommended that the states enact laws banning discrimination in admitting students to the public and private schools. Church-supported schools would be exempted. A "substantial" minority of the committee was opposed to such laws.

The committee said federal and state laws should be enacted to prohibit discrimination in employment.

Concerning poll taxes, the committee said the seven remaining states which require their payment before a person can vote ought to abolish such taxes themselves, but if they don't do it "promptly," the federal government should pass a national law.

The poll tax states are Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Prison Guards Receive Increase in Salaries

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29—Guards at the London prison farm and the Mansfield reformatory today received a wage increase that brought their pay up to the same level as that of guards at Ohio penitentiary.

The penitentiary guards won a wage increase of $20 per month in the administration of the late Gov. Martin L. Davey. For nearly 10 years guards at the other institutions have fought for the same wages and conditions of employment, but it was only at the last session of the legislature that the bill was passed, effective Sept. 28.

Class A guards now receive from $227.50 to $233 per month.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

DICKY turned from the telephone with a "Cheshire Cat" grin on his face.

"They'll be down, pronto," he reported. "The old guy sounded excited, for him. He really falls for the 'hush hush' stuff, doesn't he?"

"Yes, he does," I agreed, "but you also must remember that Olga is vitally interested in any message from your father these days, and anything—"

"That affects his liege lady affects the great impresario also," my husband finished my sentence for me. "Yes, I understand that. It's to the old boy's credit. His love for his wife sometimes makes him almost human."

"Dicky! Dicky!" I remonstrated, laughing, and then we said no more until the knocker signaled the arrival of our guests.

Olga was pale and patently fearful, and her husband was chivalrously soothing in the solicitude with which he surrounded her. But her first question showed her secret dread.

"Otto?" she queried. "Is there any fresh news of his treachery?"

"Not anything that cannot be thwarted," I told her. "But we have most exciting news from the man who has come from Transvania to cope with Otto's latest scheme."

Olga's regal face paled further perceptibly, but she betrayed no other evidence of fear or excitement.

"You mean," she began, "that —"

Her voice died away, and I answered her unspoken question.

"I mean that Georges, disguised, is at the Underwood home. My father and Mr. 'K' are with him."

Her pallor was deeper now, but her voice was steady.

"Georges! Here!" she said. "That must mean bad news. Tell me—Pietro?"

Her voice did not break when she spoke the name of her idolized younger son, who was atoning for the treachery of his older brother, Otto. But the anguish in her eyes made me ashamed of not guessing her terror sooner.

"Pietro is all right," I said. Georges said so."

She swayed — we were all standing—and her husband put his arm around her with steadying solicitude.

"I am all right, my dear Philip," she said, and he put her into the chair Dicky had drawn up.

"Suppose we all sit down," Dicky suggested. "We have astonishing news for you, but nothing to be dreaded."

Dicky put me into a chair opposite Olga, and when he drew chairs also facing me for himself and Philip, I knew what his next words would be.

"Madge is the spokesman," he said. "She knows all the answers. My father just told her all his plans. So, if you will lend her your ears."

I knew that I must start with the reason for Georges' coming to America, but I hesitated to bring in Otto's name, and worse, that of his common-law wife. But I knew it had to be done, so I plunged into the swirling tide with stern decision.

"Olga," I said, "you will forgive me, but I must ask this question. Do you know a woman, an— associate — of Otto's, named Laura?"

Her face had regained something of its color, but now it paled again.

"I do not know her, although I have seen her," she said. "I thank you for trying to spare my feelings, my dear Madge. This—this—Laura" her voice was regally disdainful—"is Otto's mistress. I believe they both refer to her as his common-law wife. She is a most dangerous woman. What has she been doing now?"

"Nothing so far," I replied. "It is what they fear she is going to do that has brought Georges over with a mission from Pietro, who cannot leave Transvania just now."

Then I plunged swiftly into the story that my father had given me of the destruction of the castle of Transvania; of the still inviolate secret of the treasure hidden in the rock caverns beneath, and of Pietro's news, filtered through many secret chanels, that Otto, vainly trying to get back to Transvania himself, had given the secret of the treasure to Laura.

"The dastard!" Olga whispered "The traitor! My oldest son!"

Upper Sandusky Remains On Ohio Undefeated List

The other obstacle to Ram immortality, the Carey Blue Devils, will entertain the Rams on Nov. 7 for the Wyandot county cup.

Bellevue At Bucyrus.

While Upper Sandusky fans are screaming for another Ram win Thursday night, a N. O. L. battle between second place Bellevue and third place Bucyrus will be rumbling over in Bucyrus. The Bucyrus Redmen have seven points in the league race with three wins, a tie, and two losses. If they can stagger by Bellevue without the help of fullback Tom Boyle—out of football for the season with a broken leg sustained in the Ram-Redman tilt last week—they'll pick up two points in the race, but still will remain in third place.

A third league game will pit fourth place Crestline against ...th place Norwalk. Crestline has a 3-2 league record, and Norwalk a 2-3 score. The game will be played at Norwalk Thursday night.

Willard and Galion, shivering on the seventh and eighth rungs of the league's cellar stairs, will kick each other around at Galion. Willard has a 1-5 league record, and Galion gridders lost 'em all.

The Cardington Pirates will entertain Bellville Thursday night.

Carey At Marysville.

The Carey Blue Devils travel to Marysville Friday for a Mid-State league game to decide which team will have the honor of standing next to Marion St. Mary in the league. Both the Devils and the Monarchs have a 2-1 league record and are tied for second place. Comparative scores with three common opponents—Richwood, Marion St. Mary and Mt. Gilead—give Carey a three touchdown margin over the Monarchs.

Other games scheduled Friday will find Richwood entertaining West Jefferson, and Fredericktown at Mt. Gilead.

The Kenton Wildcats will meet a toughie when the Bexley Bobcats come up from Columbus to exchange fur Friday night. The Bobcats have only dropped one contest this year—a 34-7 loss to undefeated Grandview—last week. The Wildcats have dropped two encounters and have a tie game with Celina on the books.

TICKET "SCALPER" EXPELLED BY NAVY

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 29—A midshipman has been expelled from the Naval Academy as an aftermath of the detection of "irregularities in the handling" of tickets to last week's Penn-Navy game at Philadelphia, an academy spokesman announced last night.

The midshipman, Frederick W. Lauer Jr. of Wilmette, Ill., had been confined to quarters since Oct. 15, when a man the Navy identified as Harry Rubin of Philadelphia was apprended on Academy grounds with 400 game tickets in his possession.

The spokesman said Rubin had signed a statement to the effect another Philadelphian had asked him to the academy and "pick up a bundle from Midshipman Lauer."

An investigation showed, the spokesman said, that Lauer, a first classman, had "obtained the tickets from individual midshipmen of the junior classes who turned over their applications to him in good faith."

Each midshipman was entitled to purchase four tickets to the game.

The Academy statement said "Careful investigation indicated Mr. Lauer was the only midshipman who stood to profit by the transaction and who was involved in major irregularities."

No rule specifically prohibits a midshipman from re-selling tickets, but application forms state a member of the Navy Athletic Association "will be held accountable for tickets falling into the hands of speculators."

BRITISH SCENT VICTORY IN RYDER CUP MATCH

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 29—The Americans have looked the hottest in practice rounds, but what will happen when the Ryder Cup golf matches open here Saturday?

Well, the non-playing strategist and manager of the British team, Commander R. S. Roe, confides that the British will manage to sneak home with the victory.

"The wet course will not bother them. It's really in fine shape, you know. They are very good competitors and have the enthusiasm and will to win," he said.

ALGIERS BRINGS $70,000

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—Mrs. H. M. Nichols Jr., and C. F. Gaines, both of Lexington, Ky., are taking the famed harness racing trotter, Algiers, back home—at a cost of $70,000. They paid that amount yesterday as 79-year-old Edward J. Baker disposed of his racing stable on the auction block.

PREXY SOPHS BOOKED WITH JR. ALL-STARS

Small Fry To Pit Best Against Reserves Monday.

A special post-season game between the Harding High school sophomore team and an all-star squad from the three Marion junior high schools will be played at Harding stadium Monday night for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to make 1947 the first profit-making season in local junior high football history.

The regulation four-quarter game will get under way at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for students from the first to the twelfth grades.

Expenses for the 1947 football program for the three local junior high schools—Central, Edison and Vernon—have totaled approximately $1,000 while income has amounted to only $450, according to Dewey N. Bohyer, director of athletics of the Marion public school system. It is the hope of school officials that proceeds from the special game Monday night will equal or exceed the $550 needed to keep the junior high treasury "out of the red."

If the $550 is raised, it will mark the first time that junior high football in Marion has operated at a gain.

An appreciable share of the $1,000 in junior high football expenses went for equipment and operation of games, Mr. Bohyer states.

Receipts from the game Monday night will be divided equally among the three junior high schools. Equal distribution is also made of the income from regular season games.

Head coach of the junior high all-star team will be Darl Gatchell, coach at Vernon. John Luginbuhl, Central coach, will have charge of the all-stars' line while George Whitehead of Edison will handle the backfield.

The personnel of the all-star team, to be chosen by the three junior high coaches, will be announced within a few days.

The Harding sophomore team will be composed entirely of non-varsity players. Coaching will be divided among the four members of the Harding staff, Head Coach William "Pete" Howison and assistants Kenny Somerlot, George Keel and Howard Thomas.

Bucks Seek Elimination Of Costly Grid Fumbles

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29—Ohio State University Buckeyes this week are concentrating on plays already in their offensive scrapbook seeking to eliminate costly fumbles like those that crippled them against Pittsburgh last Saturday.

In their preparation for their third Western Conference clash Saturday against the Indiana Hoosiers, Coach Wes Fesler sent the Buckeyes through a half-hour dummy scrimmage on a rain-wet field last night.

The light rain pleased Fesler, who felt the wet-ball handling would be good preparation for Saturday.

Tag Match Slated for Grappling Fans Thurs.

Many of the Marion wrestling fans have been asking for a tag team match and here it is for Thursday at the armory. Besides the tag team match there will be three other matches, but to start off with the top match of the evening, the tag team match will have as one team—Dutch Schultz and Capt. Mike Mihalakis, as capable a pair of mayhem artists as could be found, and the other team just as capable, Gorilla Pogi and Paul Orth, the Tarzan of the mat. This will mark Orth's first appearance in a number of years as he did three of that time with the army. Before the tag match there will be two 30-minute matches in which Capt. Mike will try to down Pogi and Paul Orth will trade holds or punches with Schultz.

At 8:30 an added attraction will be a 20-minute return match between those two Toledo grapplers, Bob Curtis and Billy Williams who wrestled here several months ago and Williams won when Curtis was thrown from the ring. No advance in prices for this all star show and for ringside call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store. —Adv.

Bowling Demonstration Set

Bill Shaul To Give Free Bowling Instructions to Fans at the Palace Thursday Night.

Bill Shaul, nationally known bowler and winner of a slice of A.B.C. championships during his prime, will turn professor Thursday when he'll be in Marion to instruct the public in the fundamentals of bowling.

Shaul will teach the art of rolling strikes Thursday evening at the Palace Recreation—and the instruction will be free.

With a grand average of over 199 earned during 16 years of A.B.C. competition, Shaul has all the qualifications of a professor of bowling. His appearance in Marion is sponsored by fourth annual bowling institute. Shaul has been instructing keglers for the institute for several years.

Shaul was a member of the five-man champion team in the New York state tournament, 1927, a member of the 1936 championship doubles team in New York, was third in singles in the A.B.C. tournament in 1936, and winner of the first and second places of the Olentangy doubles sweepstakes at the last A.B.C. in Columbus in 1941.

He'll be at the Palace from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. Thursday to give a lecture and a demonstration to interested pupils.

BOWLING SCORES

Two leagues scattered the pins at the Palace Recreation Center Monday night and Jean Leser of the Monday Nite Ladies League, left no doubt that she was the boss for this night. Rolling a 200 high single game, she went on to bring her series total to an undisputed 537. Lillie Dalton, a team mate, tried hard to match the sizzling pace but fell short with a 501. Twenty-two other Monday Nite bowlers, however, made their bid for one night fame by rolling games of 150 or over.

In the Ohio Public Service league at the Palace Recreation Center, J. G. Lytle and L. H. Larsen took the high for single and series games by chalking up a 223 and a 555. Dorothy Rhinehart was queen in the women's division by recording a 172 single and a 508 series to lead in them both.

HOPKINS NAMED HEAD OF AREA OFFICIALS

Mid-Ohio Officials Association Formed at Parley Monday.

Carl Hopkins of Delaware was elected president of the newly organized Mid-Ohio Officials association at an organization meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Monday night.

John Ehlen was elected vice president and Bob Minard secretary-treasurer.

The association was formed because of a recent ruling by the Ohio Athletic association that all high school officials must be members of an officials association and must attend at least four rules-interpretation meetings a year for each sport officiated.

Marion Hinklin and E. H. Landrus of Marion, and Merle Thomas of Prospect were named directors of the association.

About 29 officials from Marion and the neighborhood attended the meeting. Bob Minard estimates that there are some 50 high school officials in the area.

The Mid-Ohio Officials association will accommodate officials in the area between Mansfield, Findlay, Lima, Springfield, and Columbus.

Next meeting has been set for next Monday at 8 p. m. in the Y.M.C.A.

Great Lakes Bowl Teams To Be Named Next Week

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29—Opponents in Cleveland's first Great Lakes Bowl game will be announced early next week, Joe Matoney, managing director of the event, promised today.

The contest will be played in the stadium Dec. 6 under the sponsorship of the Cleveland Council of the Knights of Columbus. Duke and Southern Methodist now appear as possible participants, Matoney said.

Steve Suhaycik, Grand Knight of the Council, told a rally of the organization last night that $30,000 is needed as a guarantee for the two schools chosen.

Proceeds will go to the council's welfare fund.

Sam Francis, now coaching at Kansas State, was a shot-putter with the U. S. Olympic team in 1936.

Big-Nine Headache Seen If Illini Take Wolverines

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—An Illinois victory over Michigan Saturday in a game rated as just about a toss-up would bring prospects of a three-way tie for the Big Nine crown and a headache for conference facultymen who must select a Rose Bowl representative.

Pending Saturday's outcomes, Illinois, Michigan and Purdue—a team ranked at the bottom of the pile in preseason reckoning—could become shareholders of the championship without stretching the imagination too far.

One provision of the five-year contract signed by the Big Nine and Pacific Coast conference last year prohibits Rose Bowl appearance of a league member more than once in three years, regardless if it is the champion. Illinois won the title last year and flattened U.C.L.A., 45-14, New Year's day.

It was argued originally that this stipulation might conceivably rob the Illini of some of their zest on the gridiron this fall inasmuch as the Pasadena trip incentive would be lacking. On the other hand the incentive would burn strongly in such a gang as Michigan and become a pep-talk factor in boiling the Wolverines up to charge through to (1) the title; (2) their first chance in the Rose Bowl since Hurry-Up Yost's 1902 team walloped Stanford 49-0 in the inaugural of the classic and (3) the mythical national championship currently held by Notre Dame.

The Illini, however, are just as anxious to repeat for the Big Nine diadem—Rose Bowl or not—as Michigan is to jostle them aside.

Purdue enters the picture because it upset Illinois, 14-7, last week while Michigan remained undefeated by edging Minnesota, 13-6.

The underrated Boilermakers clicking under their new coach, Stu Holcomb, ex-Army assistant, are in the enviable position of not having the Wolverines on their schedule. Already with triumps over Ohio State and Illinois, after losing their opener to Wisconsin, they face Iowa Saturday, then Minnesota and Indiana.

After Michigan, Illinois meets Ohio State and Northwestern. The Wolverines have Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio State on tap.

So the big "if" is this: If Illinois beats Michigan and both teams whip the remainder of their opponents, and if Purdue is all victorious—that would leave Purdue, Michigan and Illinois each with a record of five wins and one defeat.

From there on the facultymen can have it. They meet to vote on the Big Nine delegate to Pasadena Nov. 23, the Sunday following conclusion of the season.

Howard Hughes Inquiry To Be Resumed Monday

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 29 — A subdued start appears in prospect for Monday's reopening of the sensation-packed congressional inquiry into Howard Hughes' wartime airplane contracts

CLEVELAND REPORTS TOP TRADE SEASON

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct 29—This Ohio 'seaport' is winding up its busiest season of foreign trade

And prospects are next season will be far better for at least three reasons

(1) All four foreign lines using the local port will have additional ships in operation

(2) The western European countries sending cargoes here will have progressed farther along the road of post-war industrial recovery

(3) A saving to exporting Ohio industries—estimated by agents of the foreign shipping lines to be 10 to 15 per cent over the cost of shipping by rail to the eastern seaboard—should be even larger next year because of the recent 10 per cent rail service rate boost

Since the Dutch freighter Prins Maurits arrived here April 29, a steady stream of vessels from Norway, Sweden, Holland and England has trekked into the Great Lakes discharging large cargoes

Although imports have not reached the high level of 1939 exports to Europe from lake cities have soared to thousands of tons worth millions of dollars as midwestern industry fills war-produced shortages abroad

The largest ships from Europe are 258-footers, the limit imposed by the size of St Lawrence canal locks, but if the projected St Lawrence seaway ever materializes, all of the lines plan to assign larger vessels to the lakes trade

New York Stock Quotations

1 O'CLOCK QUOTATIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Steels pushed sharply higher in today's stock market as advances elsewhere in the list were held to fairly modest proportions.

The anniversary of the 1929 collapspe that set off the most active session in exchange history started at a fairly lively pace but the ticker tape slowed somewhat, and some initial gains were shaded. Although the direction was upward, scattered losers persisted near midday.

The declaration of a special dividend and increase in the common dividend of U. S. Steel to a $5 annual basis gave Wall street its juiciest morsel of favorable news in some time. Commission houses said this action added to a sizable list of constructive developments, but pointed out that in the cautious attitude of recent markets much similar corporate news has been ignored.

U. S Steel opened on a block of 5,000 shares up 1⅝ points. Also higher were Bethlehem Steel (whose directors meet tomorrow), Republic Steel, American Smelting, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Montgomery Ward, National Supply, Westinghouse Electric and Johns-Manville.

American Telephone dipped, and other laggards included Caterpillar Tractor, Philip Morris and Glenn Martin.

DEATH TRIAL CHANGE OF VENUE REQUESTED

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Oct. 29—The third day of the first degree murder trial of Roger Williams opened today with a motion for a change of venue before Common Pleas Judge Elmer L. Godwin.

Defense counsel for the 33-year-old Indian lake handyman charged with the May 28 slaying of Minta Webb Rothwell, 25, of Kenton, entered the motion just prior to adjournment yesterday, alleging unfavorable newspaper publicity" made it impossible for Williams to receive a fair trial in Logan county.

Defense counsel said one weekly newspaper referred to Williams as "the killer."

Eight women and four men tentatively have been seated on the jury from the 120 prospective jurors examined.

A defense motion that the nickname "Tug" be removed from all papers referring to the defendant has been sustained by Judge Godwin.

"BRANDING" SLOWS TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29—A traffic judge who "branded" 170 habitual traffic violators with big yellow-and-black windshield stickers today claimed 100 per cent success for his experiment.

Not one of the 170 has been back in traffic court since he started to experiment last summer, Judge H. Leonard Kaufman said.

Even the court clerks miss them.

"They used to be regular visitors—some as many as 12 times in a year in traffic court—but we haven't had a peek at them since the judge handed out those "traffic violator' stickers," one clerk said.

"I believe we simply shamed them into driving properly," said Judge Kaufman.

The judge was sitting in Los Angeles' busy traffic court when he became alarmed at the 300 persons a day parading through court with citations.

"The repeaters particularly bothered me," he said.

He offered four-times-or-more offenders a choice. They could go to jail or get probation, with a catch. The catch was that for 30 days they must wear on their windshields a big black sticker with yellow letters reading, "traffic violator."

They were ordered to come back to the police department at the end of 30 days to have the sticker removed.

Most of them took the probation.

Some tried to get rid of the stickers. One had an entire new windshield put in. He was sent to jail. Others sold their cars.

"They told us, though, and we gave them new stickers," the judge said.

Although the U. S. census estimates show a 9,500,000 increase in U. S. population between 1940 and 1947, the number of youths between 10 and 20 years old declined by 2,000,000 in the same period.
